

Bancroft is a leading service-provider for children and adults with autism, other intellectual or developmental disabilities or those in need of neurological rehabilitation.

We provide a full continuum of highly effective services — for people of all ages and every level of abilities — based on best practices and scientifically proven techniques. Our services include special education, vocational training, supported employment, structured day programs, group home and apartment programs both on-campus and in the community, short-term behavioral stabilization services for children, and in-home and outpatient rehabilitation services.

As a nonprofit organization, we are solely committed to supporting people with special needs and their families, to help make it One World. For Everyone.

Bancroft Early Intervention Program

The Bancroft Early Intervention Program's support families of children birth to three years old within the New Jersey Early Intervention System. The program is targeted to those who require educational, behavioral, therapeutic or social services to promote developmental growth.

Bancroft recognizes that this early diagnosis and intervention time can be very difficult on families. Our Bancroft staff are highly qualified and committed professionals who collaborate as a team with the families, community agencies and The New Jersey Early Intervention System to provide a cohesive approach to the child's development process, work together to meet the developmental outcomes stated in The Individualized Family Service Plan (IFSP) and offer resources and training to the family to assist with their daily routines.

Services are provided according to the family's availability and preference of location:

- In-home
- Community Setting
- Daycare

Services may include:

- Speech / Language
- Physical Therapy
- Occupational Therapy
- Developmental instruction (with Special Educator or ABA specialist)
- Behavioral intervention
- Sensory Integration
- Assistive Technology Consultation
- Social Work / Family Training
