

Sunny Days NJ EIP

Sunny Days was founded in 1994 by two healthcare professionals -- Joyce Salzberg, LCSW and Donna Maher, RN -- who bring a combined 45 years of experience working with children with developmental disabilities and their families to the early intervention community. We're proud to announce that Joyce was awarded the Gallery of Success 2011 award from Temple University's School of Social Work. Both Joyce and Donna work to ensure Sunny Days provides the nation's most effective early intervention services.

Early intervention service is an approach to therapy for children with developmental delays. Sunny Days early intervention programs reach children when they are at their youngest years: birth to age three. Our goal is to foster the child's family's ability to promote the child's development to its highest possible level. These services empower family members to incorporate support strategies into their child's daily routines, which is a proven method of maximizing the child's ability to actively participate in his or her environment.

Sunny Days utilizes trained and licensed practitioners in all disciplines and developmental domains, including social work, nursing, speech therapy, physical therapy, occupational therapy, special education and behavior therapy, including services supervised by BCBAs. Our practitioners use their breadth of experience to design intervention strategies specifically tailored to each child's IFSP and built around a family's daily routines and activities.

Additionally, since 2008, our technology structure has allowed us to pioneer training models both on-site and via web-based courses, which are offered both "live" and on-demand, depending on the subject content.

Sunny Days is one of the nation's leading early intervention providers, serving children with developmental needs in New York, California, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

As an organization that prides itself in providing a range of innovative early intervention options, Sunny Days is happy to offer families virtual early childhood development services. Virtual intervention is new to the early childhood community, and we're happy to be pioneers in this method of service delivery by offering online coaching sessions with full video and audio features.

A child's family is the most integral and significant driver of progress in his or her early life, and Sunny Days caring and experienced practitioners are here to work with each family to help their child reach his or her fullest potential.
